Abstract of the Disclosure

In a data transfer display method, first unit transfer data containing at least a plurality of unit display data is transferred from a first transmission source to a transmission destination. When display of unit display data of the first unit transfer data is designated at the transmission destination, the unit display data of the first unit transfer data and another display data are displayed.

09732721.121100